These 6 colours are common to both products:

There is no requirement that purchased and free products are the same colour. In the case that you do prefer the same handle colours below are the six common colours the two products share. The colours are identical though they may not appear the same on a computer screen or a printed sheet.

Want to see what your Picquic drivers will look like?

A virtual proof of your proposed order can easily be provided. Please contact your distributor and they will be glad to produce a proof for you. If required, printed samples can be provided for a refundable charge.
